

Key Stage Curricular Goals – KS3

To develop knowledge of puberty, begin to understand safe relationships and who trusted adults are. Understand how to stay safe online

To develop personal communication for a variety of audiences including social and academic. To foster positive relationships with peers and staff.

To develop healthy bodies and minds and begin to understand who to ask for help.
To develop their own philosophical questions to which there is no right or wrong answer, developing reasoning and questioning.

To actively participate within the community and make a positive contribution.

To begin to develop life and study skills appropriate for their stage of development and extended curriculum. Achieve their personal best.
To use collaborative, critical, caring and creative thinking across all aspects of learning and life. (Thinking schools.)